The title, 'Inside Out' encompasses both my technique and society's preoccupation with aging and beauty. Discarded remnants from previous paintings are added and reused; a new creation emerges transforming the old into new. In the Skirt Series the figures are strong and resolute, but feminized by their skirts; the continuous conflict of being both a woman and powerful.

Is an emerging contemporary Canadian artist living in Toronto. Working in oil, her abstract pieces are rich in colour and movement. Elizabeth often starts from an idea that captures her, but ultimately, it is her emotional response that you see. She enjoys working in larger scale allowing the gestures to be felt through confident brushstrokes, meditated and spontaneous.

Price Range $1,000-3,500

In my opinion, the ultimate goal in creating expression involves the integration of art, creativity and spirituality. In order to capture these elements of richness, the landscape is built in layers – initially the composition and design, secondly the nuances of light and shadows, then finally the hidden contours showing movement and contrast of colour and highlights.

Dear Lola 2014 24" x 30" Paper based Mixed Media on Canvas

JOAN ANDAL ROMANO

'Dear Lola' is about a confident young lady, letters, a wedding that almost happened, and a life well lived in the next chapter. I used brilliant colours of acrylic and ink; representing her spirit. The papers I painted on were Kozo and deli. The strong Kozo paper balances the delicate deli paper; fragile beauty with inner strength. My mom aka Lola.
